Introduction

In the context of my activity as an antiquarian bookseller I began in 1973 to acquire exhibition invitations/announcements and poster/mailers on painting, sculpture, drawing and prints, performance, and video. I was motivated by the quasi-neglect in which these ephemeral primary sources in art history were held by American commercial channels, and the project to create a database towards the bibliographic recording of largely ignored material. Documentary value and thinness were my only criteria of inclusion. Sources of material were random. Material was acquired as funds could be diverted from my bookshop.

With the rapid increase in number and diversity of sources, my initial concept evolved from a documentary to a study archive project on international visual and performing arts, reflecting the appearance of new media and art making/producing practices, globalization, the blurring of lines between high and low, and the challenges to originality and quality as authoritative criteria of classification and appreciation.

In addition to painting, sculpture, drawing and prints, performance and video, the Jean-Noël Herlin Archive Project includes material on architecture, design, caricature, comics, animation, mail art, music, dance, theater, photography, film, textiles and the arts of fire. It also contains material on galleries, collectors, museums, foundations, alternative spaces, and clubs. Simultaneously, I incorporated posters, press kits, press releases, exhibition catalogues, checklists, résumés, schedules, programs, book and magazine publishers' information, periodicals, press clippings (writings and statements by, and interviews with artists, articles, reviews, obituaries), visual documentation (transparencies, slides, photographs, photocopies from slides, CD's and DVD's), a few drawings, prints, photographs, mail art works; artists' books, stamps, postcards, and calendars; pins and buttons, stickers, coins, manuscripts and typescripts, correspondence, name cards, records, and other miscellaneous items.

The Jean-Noël Herlin Archive Project is a personal, egalitarian and inclusive, or, in Erwin Panofsky's term, monist account of creativity in the visual and performing arts internationally from the middle of the 20th century to the present.

As of September 2005 the Jean-Noël Archive Project contains more than 254000 physical items organized in four groups: documents pertaining to individual artists, performers, collaborators, and groups; documents pertaining to group events with a title and clippings; documents pertaining to untitled group events or multiple events, and material pertaining to organizations; and periodicals.

The first group contains nearly 156000 items relating to 35600 artists and performers, arranged alphabetically by artist or group. The second group contains 58000 items arranged alphabetically by title. The third group contains 37500 items arranged alphabetically by organization. The fourth group contains approximately 900 whole issues of, more than 1200 clippings from, and 600 items relating to periodicals.

All items are as originally issued. A few photocopies from originals have been so marked. Most undated documents have been dated. Clippings, the majority of the group event catalogues and selected items have been indexed and cross referenced. With very few exceptions, the material is in excellent physical condition.

The Jean-Noël Herlin Archive Project is credited in more than three dozen books and exhibition catalogues. It is replete with important and/or rare documents and publications from which numerous exhibitions could be culled.

The following pages consist of four lists. The first three represent the files which, in the project's first three groups, contain ten or more physical items. The first list is followed by a selection from selected files within the letters A through D of the first group. The fourth list consists of a selection of periodicals. The total of physical items in these four lists accounts for more than 55% of the project.

The Jean-Noël Herlin Archive Project / Individual artists and performers, collaborators, and groups

The following is a list of the artists about whom the Jean-Noël Herlin Archive Project contains at least ten physical items. The middle column indicates the number of items in the file, and the right hand column the dates of the first and last items.

This list of 3330 artists accounts for nearly 9.5% of the 35600 total number of artists, and its 77460 items for 50% of the 156000 items in this group.

One asterisk indicates twenty-five pieces or more, two asterisks indicate fifty pieces or more, and three asterisks indicate one-hundred pieces or more.

The Jean-Noël Archive Project / Individual Artists and Performers, Collaborators, and Groups. Selections A-D

The following is a list of selected items within selected files from the letters A through D. The name of each artist or performer is followed in parentheses by the number of items in the file and by the dates of the first and last items.

The purpose of this selection is to give a fair measure of the range and depth of, and variety of material in the project. In the case of dead artists it is limited to items issued during the artist's lifetime. In the case of living artists it lists items issued during the artist's early exhibition/performance history, and it can be assumed that the continuation of the file generally presents a similar degree of inclusiveness.

Note

Exhibition announcements indicates cards, except where noted.

Catalogues indicates that the item includes a formal catalogue of exhibits. The term refers to the contents rather than to the physical properties of the item.

Dimensions are given in inches, height first.

A numeral in parentheses following a date indicates the number of events during that year at that venue.

Vito Acconci (148, 1970-2002)
